Dear Mr. Bechshoft:

Again I am indebted to you for a personal favour! It is my pleasure to thank you this time very much for the fine door-knocker which you have passed on to me via our mutual friend Boris Hagelin. I tried to get him to translate the Danish legend thereon but he pleads inability to do so. Do you remember what the legend says?

With reiterated thanks and best wishes to you for the approaching holiday season, I am,

Sincerely,

WILLIAM F. FRIEDMAN
