

19 April 1945.

Major General George S. Gibbs,
U. S. A., Retired,
P. O. Box 665,
Stuart, Florida.

Dear General Gibbs:

Many thanks for returning the photograph with your autograph and such a flattering testimonial to me.

Your picture will occupy a prominent place in my collection of photographs of Chief Signal Officers under whom I have had the pleasure of serving.

Hoping that my letter finds you in the best of health and with cordial greetings, I am

Sincerely yours,

William F. Friedman,
Director of Communications Research.

Dear General Gibbs:

I have been building up in my private office a gallery of notables among the officers of the Signal Corps. It would be far from complete if I did not have an autographed photograph of you since I had the pleasure of serving under your administration as Chief Signal Officer.

I have obtained from the Signal Corps Photographic Agency a rather nice picture of you and what I would like to know is would you be kind enough to autograph it for me if I send it to you at your present address.

I recently saw Mr. Page of I.T. & T. and he told me that a letter addressed to you at the I.T. & T. would be forwarded. I hope my letter finds you in excellent health and enjoying the pleasure of an active retirement. The Army medics threw me out several years ago, but I am continuing in a civilian capacity as best as possible.

With very cordial greetings, I am

Sincerely yours,

William F. Friedman,
Director of Communications Research.
