Br. John von Bewegenn The Institute for Advanced Study Princeton University Princeton, New Jersey

Dear Dr. von Fermannt

I wish to refer again to your letter of 15 February 1954, and specifically to that part of it in which you suggest that at the next Board meeting in April we reserve sees time for a dissustion of extremely high-speed computing.

You have been good enough to consent to participating in the week of the Mathematics Panel of the MSA Scientific Advisory Board, in addition to continuing to serve as a master of the Board itself. I know how little time you have left, after fulfilling your obligations at the Institute, for participation in the work of other groups. But I wish nevertheless to extend to you, on behalf of Br. Cairns, the Chairman of the Board, and of Mr. John C. McPherson, Board member and Chairman of the Electronics Panel, an invitation to join with the latter in the work of a special committee of the Elsctrunics Panel to study the subject of general purpose flexible smalytic equipment, useful is analyzing various devices. The following have been invited to manbership on this committee under Mr. McPherson's ebulraenship: J. Forrester, J. Desch, John Morard, S. W. Dunwell (of IBH) and Claude Shannon; thus far we have had acceptances from the last two maned.

No date has yet been set up for the first meeting of this committee, so that I can give an indication as to the date when the group will meet. It is possible that so sesting will be hald before the meeting of the Board on 80-21 April. Movever, if you find yourself in a position to join in the work of this special committee under Mr. MoPherson, I am sure he and all the other members thereof would be very glad of your participation because it would undoubtedly be most bolpful.

Mening to hear from you with an acceptance of this invitation, I am.

Mincoroly,
